Degrata Tactical Inc. is offering a (Simunition ONLY) Active Shooter Engagement and Resolution Course. This course was developed to give officers a chance to learn advanced tactics in resolving an active shooter, in a school, office building, mall, or other public place. It was developed as a short course so that officers could get experience in resolving this type of incident, without conflicting with their normal patrol schedules.

Attending officers will learn how to maximize their effectiveness by using shooting positions, angles, light, and movement. They will experience engaging single and multiple threats, both individually and as a team. They will learn, first hand, the benefits of pistols vs carbines. Officers will take part in immediate action/hostage rescue drills, downed officer and student extractions, student and staff evacuations, battlefield medical emergencies, and will receive an introduction to improvised explosive devices. Officers will be split into teams and have the experience of being the team leader for their team. Each team will be expected to “create” a new drill that they want to practice because of a specific threat or issue in their school. These teams will learn to work independently and as multiple assault elements, to solve different pieces of the same problem.

Officers attending this course will be able to take what they have learned and provide officers from their own departments with the core tactics needed, in the event of an active shooter in theirs, or a nearby, jurisdiction.

This course is a Simunition ONLY course, so no non-Simunition weapons are required. Officers attending this course should bring their full duty gear minus firearms, or if they are part of a Special Response Team, their full call-out gear. BDU's or tactical pants are suggested. Additional requirements will be sent in a confirmation letter, upon registration.

If attending officers have their own Simunition equipment, please bring it. This will allow us to use more role players (i.e. students), in the drills. If you require us to provide your Simunition ammunition, please include an additional $40 for the cost of that ammunition (50 rounds).

Number of course participants, is limited.
